

Lindsey comes crashing into Kindertons House

Kindertons this month unveiled their new Business Development Manager, Lindsey Kirby, responsible for managing Kindertons Clients in the Southern Area of England. Lindsey is based at the London office, however on her first official trip to Head Office in Crewe, Cheshire, she in fact had her first taste of the 'Kindertons Accident Management Scheme' first hand.

After making her long journey North, she unfortunately was involved in a non-fault accident with a lorry less than 2 miles from Kindertons House. Lindsey was said to be very embarrassed about such an incident on her first day but was extremely impressed with the service she is now selling!

Lindsey has an extensive background in the Accident Management Industry, having worked in the sector for many years, thus bringing a priceless amount of experience to the organisation and a fresh approach to her role as Business Development Manager for Kindertons Clients in the South of England.
