

Kindertons Expands London Branch

Kindertons Accident Management Company have this week announced further growth within the company, this time expanding their London branch. Due to the increase in number of new clients and the amount of claims handled by Kindertons having again risen year on year an expansion was inevitable.

The London branch, based in Southall and servicing London and the South East, have taken on a further 5 staff and have just expanded the fleet of vehicles including cars and commercial vehicles.

With the demand for our services and vehicles growing nationally, the plans for further expansion in other areas of the country are in the pipeline and more new sites will be announced shortly. Mathew Scott, Marketing Executive for the company commented "These are exciting times for Kindertons, with the increase in volumes of both clients and claims we are handling, our growth is certainly helping our clients profitably make their way through the current financial and operational challenges being faced by other sectors of our market "